POEM

In the animal Kingdom, male is more powerful and attractive yet the dominant male or leader has to prove its might periodically and has to meet the challenges of the rivalry and environmental hazards. It should maintain its vigor and valor throughout to be the king of the females. It should be the protector of its kingdom as well. The prime duty of the female is reproduction and to obey the customs of the kingdom. This rule is applicable from ant to elephant. But the crucial part of the female is, at times it is mercilessly killed or its cub is brutally annihilated by a new king or dominant male of a group if it is unable to fulfill the expectations of the new leader. Every year hundreds of female beasts died pathetically because of its inability, or in other words by the arrogant atrocity of the dominant males merely for lust.

Recently I witnessed a female king cobra which was brutally massacred and swallowed by its new mate; unable to swallow the whole, the new male vomited and moved away without guilty conscious or repentance. When the scientists inspected the female; it has had fourteen eggs in its womb. It was pregnant and was unable to fulfill the lust of the new mate. It was ready to hatch the eggs for incubation. King cobras are enlisted under rare species list. This pathetic incident moved me a lot and this poem is dedicated to such helpless female community in total which still survives with awful agony in spite of having great powers to restore and resurrect.

What is there to yield?
Already brutally mate by
A male without concurrence
Or consideration; and my
 Womb is filled with eggs.
 I am unfit, unable to carry
 You, you brutally killed me.
 What is my mistake? We are
There to reproduce and protect The dominant male. He needed
Me then as I was a little
Attractive and young.
 You need me now, illegally
 Against the rule of this kingdom.
 When so many females available
 Why did you chase me and crushed
Me mercilessly? Don't you know?
I am unfit for mating. You,
Dominants have enormous powers
But unethical qualities too. Thee
 Mighty enough to expropriate
 Another group; we are there to Serve you. More number of females

May be pride to you but a curse to us.
Even mating is a chance to us not
A choice. Your horrible lust is Rather painful than blissful. Lust
May be a relief to you but faith to us.
We, the female, afraid of you
The rivals and the hunters etc.
We run miles together to Protect us and our fetus. We love minimum
Guaranteed living but our living is too
Horrible, crucial yet committed. Thrusting, Penetrating may be your symbol but
We are known for love and sacrifice still
We never kill a male or mate for impotence
Is it a curse of the female to be a
Dependant forever? Believe; blessing is Enough to be a male but God himself /
Herself born as a female. Female means
Nothing but Nature. Don't pollute Nature
One day or other, you have to pay for that.
Love and live with Nature.
